Brief Summary of Major Changes:

Canada: Provinces continue to loosen their COVID restrictions - some provinces have begun to allow family 'bubbles' for social contact, while others have begun to allow businesses such as personal care services, restaurants and bars to reopen with proper distancing, safety measures and guidelines adhered to.

In the US, all states have begun to ease restrictions, however a recent wave of an increase in positive tests and percentage of positive tests has caused some states to take pause with rollbacks, some even putting in place quarantines for travellers from states most heavily affected. Texas and Florida have paused some of their rollback plans.

Bermuda has seen a reopening of the economy and of its borders with International travellers.
